North Sydney Zonta on the hunt for new members

The Zonta Club of North Sydney Breakfast is on the look out for new members who are passionate about empowering women through actively addressing the issues they face locally, nationally and internationally.

The group meets monthly to work on a range of women-centric projects, including providing breast care cushions to those that have had breast surgery and assembling birthing kits to be delivered to mothers in developing countries.

The club also supports local schools with their fundraising and community projects, including North Sydney Girls High School.

If you're interested in attending a meeting to find out more about the great works of Zonta, phone Diana Burrell on 0410 465 303 or email her at dianaburrell@hotmail.com
